Gen. McClellans' Mining Enterprise The following appears in the Financial and Mining Record, edited by Gen. Thos. Jordan, formerly of the, United States army, and more lately chief of staff to

Gen. Beauregard: Gen. McClellan is utilizing in his old age soms information which he acquired in his youth, when in this part of the country as an officer in the regular army. In the spring or 1882, Gen. McClellan, who was then a brevet captain, was or-dered by Jefferson Davis, the secretary of war, to accompny an expedition that was sent to explore the Red river of the south, the waters of above Chase creek were unknown. From the Indians the war department had learned that the river flowed beneath the sands of what was then known as the Great American desert. Capt. R. B. Marcy led the ex-

On the morning of May 12, the party were encamped where the Wichita river flows into the Red. After cutting down the banks of this stream to allow the wagons to get down into it and make a ford, the expedition passed on up the Red river until they reached Cache creek. During the day they found the surface of the ground covered in places with detached pieces of copper ore, which had been washed out of a gully. Specimens of this ore were saved, and afterwards analyzed in Washington. They were found to be very rich in metal. At south western part of the Indian territory, the expedition remained in camp until the morning of May 16, and then proceeded fifteen miles up stream. More copper ore was found, which proved to be, on chemical analysis at Washington, a new species, and which averaged fittyfour and one-third parts of copper to the 100. The Red river actually flowed through banks of almost solid copper ore at that place.

After thirty years, Gen. McClellan has organized a company, patented 36,000 coffee, and there as acres of land and begun to work this still to be heard from. rich deposit of ore. His representatives here says that the company can break oven the present low price of copper by 4 cents, and yet have a bonanza richer than the Comstock. While copper is apparently all the company proposes to mine for, it was not the only valuable find of the expedition. The 29th of May es to found them on the bank of Otter creek. In the hills through which this creek runs were found specimens of gold-bearing quartz, which led Capt. Marcyt of make a casual examination of the washings of the creek. Several particles of pure gold were found in a few minutes. The soldiers had no time to go washing for gold, and everybody else in the country was just then trying to get to California, so this discovery passed un-noticed. As the gold is in the Indian territory and ho one has been near the place since except the Indians and cowboys, no discovery has been made.

Perhaps a lers important, but not less interesting discovery was made on the return trip, when passing through the Wichita mountains, as they are called, although the highest rises only about 700 feet above the plain. That discovery was the finding of petroleum. It was found oozing from the foot of a precipice and was described very accurately by the geologist of the expedition.

If northern Texas and southwestern Indian territory should become a mining tain colored baptist ministers entered region, one of the most beautiful parts of the cabin the other day and were this country would be ruined in the eyes ejected. of herdemen and sportsmen. Prairie and woodland and rolling hills and fer-tile valleys alternate. Herds of deer and antelope roam almost unidsturbed over the flower-decked carpets of grass that are green almost the year round, while droves of wild turkys and swarms of prairie chickens, quails and pigeons abound everywhere. To give zest to the ingto the thickets. The air is bracing. Springs of cool, pure water bubbles from the rocks among the hills. The soil is of wonderful fertility, and in every way this is the ideal happy hunting ground of the red man. It only needs a railroad or two and the influx of enterprising people to change it into the richest farm-ing community as well as mining district in the states.

Sight Restored by Fright. San Francisco Alta.

Mrs. Charles has for years been a great sufferer from neuralgia, and one time was attacked with congestion of the brain. From a gradual failing sight the lady three or four months ago lost entirely the use of her eyes and became, as it was thought, hopelessly blind. Expert medical attendance failed to effect any relief, and gave the lady little hope of ever regaining her sight. Recently the sudden and alarming cry of "Fire" rang from the lips of one of her daughters. Realizing her imminent peril, it seems that in the despair with which a drowning man grasps at a straw, the lady made an effort to open her eyes. The long unused nerves responded to her will. The alarm proved to be without foundation, but the fright it caused restored her sight, which physicians had given up as hopeless. In an interview with a physician a reporter learned that it was more than probable that during the long time that Mrs.

that during the long time that Mrs Charles had suffered from neuralgia the optic nerves had become weakened and a loss of nervous current had ensued which was partially restored by the sudden shock which the fright produced. The lady is now enjoying comparatively good sight and the impression prevails that she will fully recover. Newton Republican: A disease resembling the cholers is making great ravages among the hogs. particularly, the disease rages violently. In the neighborhood of Anneily several farmers have met with heavy losses, among the number being E. P. Libby and Mr. Sandback, each of whom have lost over 100 head. The cause of hog cholera has not yet been discovered, and farmers may as well try everything that is reliably recommended, in the hope of hitting a cure sometime. An exchange remarks on the subject: "Every paper in the United States ought occasionally to keep the fact before its readers that burnt corn is a certain and speedy cure for hog cholera. The best way is to make a pile of corn on the cobs, effectually scorch it, and give the affected hogs free access to it. The remedy was discovered by accident by E. E. Locke, Esq., at the time his distillery was burned in this county, together with a large lot of stored corn, which being so much injured as to be unfit for use, was hauled out and greedily eaten by the hogs, several of which were dying daily. After the second day not a single hog was lost, and the disease entirely disappeared. The remedy has been tried since, in a number of cases, and bas never failed."

A Campaign Secret Given Away,

In the campaign of 1884 the two candidates for governor in a "pivotal" western state arranged for a series of joint discussions. Both men were popular, both of fine appearance, and were so well matched in mental force and as crators that the contest between them promised that the contest between them promised to be a magnificant one. For several weeks the scales balanced evenly.

But one day the brilliant republican candidate came up smiling. He seemed overcome and spoke laboredly. The next day he was even less effective.

Later he was compelled to ask his opponent for a postponement of certain appointments, which was granted. Before the campaign ended he had abandoned the field altogether.

Mentions the democratic condidate.

Meantime the democratic candidate continued his canvass, seeming to grow stronger, cheerier and more effective cach week. He was elected. One even-log in December while entertaining several gentlemen he sa'd: "I will tell you a campaign secre'— which gave me the election. With the opening of my campaign I began caring for my liver. I knew that a disordered or torpid liver meant dullness and possible sickness. I took something every day. When my opponent began failing I knew his trouble to be his liver and felt like prescribing for him, but feared if I did he might beat mel I grew stronger as the campaign progressed, Cache creek, which flows through the often making two speeches a day. A QUESTION ABOUT Brown's Iron Bitters ANSWERED.

The question has probably been asked thousands of times, "How can Brown's Iron Bitters cure everything!" Well, it doesn't. But it does cure any disease for which a reputable physician would prescribe iRON Physicians recognize Iron as the best restorative sgent known to the profession, and inquiry of any leading chemical firm will substantiate the assortion that there are more preparations of iron than of any other substance used in medicine. This shows conclusively that iron is acknowledged to be the most important factor in successful medical practice. It is, however, a remarkable fact, that prior to the discovery of BROWN'S IRON BITTERN'S no perfectly astisfactory iron combination had ever been found. Marion Record: The ladies of Marion are usually the swectest tempered creatures in the world, but oh how mad a large number of them have been this week. A transient scamp was around last week gathering up old faded photo-graphs which he said he could touch over and by a peculiar process of his own bring back the life-like features of the friends and loved ones these dear old pictures represented. Early in the week he delivered his work, collected what he could for his labor, and skipped out before the ladies had time to organize a mob and hang him, as they prob-ably would have done had he remained ably would have done had he remained around here a day or two longer. Photographs representing modest old ladies were rigged out with gaudy ribbons, painted cheeks, and elaborate ear-rings, finger rings, breast pins, bracelets, etc. Precious old pictures of dear friends long since dead—pictures that can never be replaced—were thus ruined, ruined forever by this scamp, and no wonder the town is full of the maddest women you ever saw. you ever saw.

Ottawa Republican: . The schools of high learning in Kansas look to the city and county in which they are located for a large proportion of their students. Lyon county gives to the state normal at Emporia nearly one-half of the students attending that institution. Douglas county gives nearly 500 students to the state university, Baker university and the college at Lecompton. If Franklin county, and especially Ottawa, should manifest a like interest with regard to Ottawa university, there would be 150 students from this one county alone.
